Washington Notes.

Washington, March 8.—Robert T. Lincoln is expected to-morrow and he will at once assume duties.

Attorney General Mac Veagh is in Philadelphia arranging business affairs.

The session of the Cabinet was almost entirely devoted to discussing the question as to whether or not the National Banks shall be permitted to substitute bonds for legal tenders deposited by them for the purpose of withdrawing their circulation. The importance of a correct decision in the matter was recognized, and with a view of securing the fullest information, further consideration was postponed until the next meeting.

Meanwhile the Comptroller of the Currency and the Treasurer of the United States will be called upon to submit their respective views and all the facts bearing on the case. The weight of opinion at the meeting today inclined to the view that the whole matter hinged upon the question of departmental regulation rather than of law and that the decision should be such as would least injuriously affect the financial interests of the country. It was suggested that a decision should immediately restoring to circulation legal tenders which have been deposited would act as a very serious contraction of the currency for some time to come and cause the renewal of stringency and uncertainty experienced a few days since, while to allow the banks to substitute bonds and to withdraw their legal tenders would at once restore confidence and relieve the uncertainty and prove, as nothing in law prohibits it, the easiest solution of the difficulty. On the other hand it was suggested that such decisions would be opposed to former precedents and rulings and would afford an opportunity for the banks to inflate or control their circulation to suit their supposed interests, while to compel them to resort to ordinary means of restoring the former volume of their circulation would involve but a short delay and could not cause any serious inconvenience or alarm in business circles, in view of the fact that the treasury department is prepared to begin the printing and reissue of the notes from day to day, immediately on receipt of application from the banks and that issue to that amount could probably be completed within three weeks.

Edward McPherson explicitly denies that he is an applicant for the position of first assistant postmaster general.

Ex-Postmaster Chauncey J. Filly, of St. Louis seems likely to get it and Tynner will probably be given a good place abroad.

Gen. John A. Bingham of Ohio, will not be disturbed as minister to Japan.

It is reported that the President after the conference with Secretary Blaine and Attorney General Mac Veagh has decided to renominate Stanley Matthews for the supreme court vacancy. The statement is made with great positiveness, but cannot yet be verified and it seems doubtful.

Commissioner LeDue is believed to be booked for displacement and ex-Representative Loring of Massachusetts, appears to have the inside track of all the numerous competitors for the position.

Orange Judd, the well known editor of the American Agriculturist, is well supported for the position of Le Due.

The republicans of the Indiana Congressional delegation to-day agreed to make the following recommendation:

John C. New to be assistant secretary of the treasury; J. W. Gordon to succeed Judge Hunt in the court of claims, and U. S. Marshal Dudley to be commissioner of patents.

J. C. Bancroft Davis has decided to resign from the court of claims and accept a position as assistant secretary of state which President Garfield and Secretary Blaine have urged upon his acceptance, and which it is expected may be made a life office in order to retain the benefit of his services.

Yesterday the Richmond Whig, Senator Mahone's organ, contained the following as an editorial reply to a local contemporary upon this sphinx of the senate. It seems thus to be the nearest approach to any definite response to the anxious enquiry, "how will Mahone vote?" The northern neck, news can comprehend very easily how the Bourbons in the legislature could agree to vote for Gen. Frickham, the republican for U. S. senator to defeat Gen. Mahone without detriment to their democracy; but it cannot understand that there may be good and sufficient reasons, not at all affecting his politics, why Mahone should vote for Frickham, the republican for secretary to the Senate, a mere ministerial officer of that body. As for ourselves we do not know how Mahone will vote, whether for or against Mr. Frickham, but we do know that he will cast no vote in that body that will help the Bourbon finders of the grip sack funders of Virginia, if he is aware of it. If a vote for Mr. Frickham, or any other man, will help either wing of the Virginia feudism, be sure he will not cast it, and don't you forget it.

There is a good deal of talk among the quidnuncs about an extra session of Congress, but President Garfield has no present intention of calling any and unless some unforeseen question arises he is not likely to change his mind. Looking at the question from a party standpoint it would manifestly be bad policy to precipitate an organization of the House until the seats of Messrs. Conger, Hawley and Frye shall have been filled as the Republicans would hardly be able then to muster a majority and it is equally evident that a call for an extra session would be unpopular with the public unless some unquestionable justification could be assigned for it. The only weighty motive thus far suggested is the alleged need of a refunding law, but in reply to the argument it is asserted that the Secretary has over $100,000,000 of funds which can be used for refunding the five and sixes that will soon be redeemable but not payable, and aside from this consideration the treasury surplus, present and prospective is so large that a goodly portion of the debt can be absolutely redeemed before the next Congress makes further provision.

It has been decided to appoint William Chandler Solicitor General of the Department of Justice and his nomination will be sent to the Senate before the close of the special session.

Capt. Eads.

St. Louis, March 8.—Capt. Jas. B. Eads, who arrived here yesterday, will start for Mexico in a few days to have his Behanepet grant confirmed by the Mexican congress. He will then go to Tampico, where some of his engineers are surveying the harbor for the United States government, thence he will proceed to the Isthmus where he will spend a month and make a thorough inspection of his route for his ship railway. He will then sail for San Francisco as consulting engineer of the State of California, to examine the mouth of the Sacramento river from there he goes to Oregon where he will inspect the mouth of the Columbia river and Humboldt bay. He will then return to St. Louis, and shortly afterwards will visit Toronto, where he will inspect the harbor at the invitation of the British government; after which he will sail for England and Holland.

Capt. Eads is thoroughly satisfied that his ship railway scheme will be successful. His advisers from Mexico are more favorable than he anticipated. He has three parties of engineers now at work on the Isthmus and rapid advance is being made in surveys. The Mexican government is also aiding him, having furnished him eight engineers. A gang of seventy laborers are engaged in surveying and cutting a passage twelve feet wide through the forest from a point on the Panapa river, 35 miles from the Gulf, where the railway is to begin. Capt. Eads says: "The reason why I feel so sure that the railway will be built is because there are three possibilities, either one of which is almost certain. I believe that Congress will give us the legislation asked for, in fact I am almost sure of it, but if the American government will not do it—the Mexican concession to me makes no government—I shall carry the grant to England and see what can be done there. They will not be blind to its advantages. Then I can get no government aid I can build the railway by private enterprise. I have canvassed the situation so thoroughly I know this can be done. But I do not want to take this last alternative. The route by the Isthmus is only one thousand miles longer than the average of the trans-continental railway. This furnishes a sure remedy against a carrying monopoly. But if a private enterprise builds the road there is no guarantee that some syndicate might not get control of the railway, as was the case with the Isthmus route, and thus prevent the competition so desirable.

Fatal Fall at Denver.

Denver, March 8.—At four o'clock this afternoon a brick building in course of construction at 407 Larimer street fell, burying six workmen. A large crowd gathered and the work of recovering the bodies was immediately commenced. The following are the killed and wounded: Patrick J. Smith, killed; Thomas Crowley, back broken and he died at 9 o'clock; Robert Quill, Wm. Milton, Patrick Haney and Daniel McDonald, were more or less bruised but none seriously. The building was being constructed for Strauss, the clothing merchant under ten years lease and was very faulty in its construction. There are several theories as to the cause of the catastrophe, one being that it was caused by a ditch dug under the foundation for the purpose of running a water pipe into the building, and another being that it was caused by the weakness of the girder on the front of the building which was in nearly all respects a very weak structure. The affair is the general topic of conversation throughout the city.

Great indignation is being expressed towards the architect, the contractor and the city building inspector, especially the latter as it was said his attention was twice called to the inferior construction of the building. An investigation will commence to-morrow and will probably show who are the responsible parties.

The Big Walk.

New York, March 8.—The crowd this evening at no time exceeded 2,000 persons, although it was expected that reducing the price of admission to half a dollar would make the number of spectators much larger. Rowell and Vaughn rested a great deal through the evening, and at times both were off the track together for long periods to the disgust of the spectators. O'Leary made fewer stops than the others. There was a marked improvement in his appearance and he walked well.

Vaughn declined in his quarters ten minutes after and did not again show himself for an hour and thirty-seven minutes. Rowell's two hundredth mile was completed at 8:57 and was well applauded. Even money is now offered on O'Leary.

At ten o'clock the score stood: Rowell, 205; O'Leary, 188; Vaughn, 200.

Hayes at Home.

Freemont, Ohio, March 7.—Ex-President Hayes and family arrived this evening and were met at the depot which was nicely decorated, by over two thousand citizens, who cheered the party enthusiastically. A reception committee of ten prominent citizens, met the ex-President at Clyde, and a large concourse of people formed a procession. All the residences, public buildings, and the park along the line of march, were brilliantly illuminated with splendid effect. Hon. H. mer Everett then delivered an address of welcome in which he referred to the genuine and hearty feeling of welcome showed by every class of citizens.

The Market.

New York, March 8.—The markets are with few exceptions quiet; wheat is firmer and more active; pork, firmer and in better demand; lard, dull; rice coffee, in fair demand and steady; refined sugars are in good demand and firm; hops, active for export and firm at 22 to 23 for choice.

Hides are in good demand and very firm; leather, firm with fair demand; turpentine, dull but steady.

J. N. FURLONG.

Two sub contractors, who have been at work on the grade at the front on the Santa Fe road, are reported to have skipped leaving men in their employ in the lurch to the tune of $500. They came here, sold their teams, and left their men behind unpaid. They left late Monday night and telegrams were sent out to secure their arrest. Yesterday afternoon Fred Morely received a telegram from Watrous stating that one of them, J. P. Ewing, was in custody at that place. It is presumed that the other, by the name of Cremons is also in company with Ewing.

Attention is called to the advertisement on fourth page of the Sumner House. Judge Sumner keeps an excellent house and is doing a fine business.

T. Rutenbeck has a new safe to contain his jewelry. It is a Diebold and weighs 3,000 pounds. Next to the bank safes, it is the best in town.
